Subject: Local Plan Part 2 LAPP revised publication Document consultation 2017 [UNSCANNED]
[UNSCANNED]

Thank you for consulting Sport England on the above.

We can confirm that the points raised by Sport England in 2016 (copied below) have been resolved in discussion with Mathew.

Some additional points now arise

5191

1. The referenced Playing Pitch Strategy (PPS) is under review can this review be picked up in the publication version?

5192

2. The PPS review includes a wider review of Artificial Grass Pitches (AGP) provision in the city and how this relates to the wider conurbation. This may involve the allocation of new AGP provision under the parklife project – we are not sure how (if) this should be covered

5193

3. There is now a debate as part of the PPS review on the future of the allocated community Sports Hub – which should be resolved as part of the PPS review

- Retain as planned
- Reduce in size
- Reallocate to a nearby site

4. Sport England previously raised our guidance on active design – We have, in conjunction with Public Health England, produced 'Active Design' (October 2015), a guide to planning new developments that create the right environment to help people get more active, more often in the interests of health and wellbeing. The guidance sets out ten key principles for ensuring new developments incorporate opportunities for people to take part in sport and physical activity. The Active Design principles are aimed at contributing towards the Government's desire for the planning system to promote healthy communities through good urban design. Sport England would commend the use of the guidance in the master planning process for new residential developments. This guidance can in our opinion begin to address issues of health and wellbeing, context and placemaking, health Lifestyles (Para 5.2) and policies EN3, DE2, DE4, LS2, TR3 and EN5 for example. In addition the use of active design could help deliver the outcomes identified in Heath Impact Assessments and the Nottinghamshire Planning and Health Protocol.

Whilst we would not wish to formally object to the plan at this stage we believe that it is important to consider the above.
