This representation is made on behalf of Nottingham Trent University who are a key local stakeholder with land interests across the city.

The City Council and Nottingham Trent University have recently signed and agreed a 'Regeneration Partnership' document which commits to collaborative working for the mutual benefits of the City and the University. The 'Development Accord' referred to in the Proposal Change is directly referred to in the Partnership and is intended to shape a 'place leadership' approach to the management of the built environment within the City Campus. The accord does not constitute a mandate for growth, nor is it a detailed implementation plan for development - it simply establishes a joint aspiration for the City Campus and establishes the lines of communication that will facilitate delivery. Relevant service heads and stakeholders have been directly involved in the development of this document which is already proving its worth in delivering on-the-ground improvements to the campus environment, effectively and efficiently.

As such the inclusion of the proposed change is fully supported by NTU and accords with the positive approach to planning advocated within National Planning Policy.

In order to do so, the growth and development of further and higher educational institutions need active support and encouragement to grow and develop.
